105 CARS OF FLOWERS SENT EAST FROM HERE

Special Trainload of County-Grown Blooms to New Orleans To Be Used In Historic Hallowe'en Festival of Old Southern City Today

San Mateo county flowers are known throughout the nation, and are always in demand when the finest blooms are required at special occasions. The historic All-Saints' Day festival and madri gras which takes places in New Orleans today is one of the largest single users of San Mateo county grown chrysanthemums, and there have been shipped to New Orleans from here this year eight car loads of the largest blooms grown here.

The eight cars formed a special train The big blooms are packed in strong cardboard boxes and average 12,500 blooms to the car. This is a part of a $10,000,000 crop of flowers which will be produced by this county during the year. The Redwood City express office has to date shipped a total of 105 car loads of chrysanthemums. In addition to this amount, many of the flowers are shipped to San Francisco by truck and sent out from there. Iced refrigerator cars are used in the transportation of the flowers, and with careful packing and sufficient icing, the flowers are received in eastern cities in as fresh a condition as that in which they leave the vast flower fields of this county.

San Mateo county is accounted one of the finest locations in the world for the culture of this particular flower, which was introduced here from Japan. The large blooms so much in demand at the New Orleans festival form only a part of the chrysanthemum crop of this county. All types of blooms from tiny buttons smaller than a copper cent to some of six and seven inches in diameter are grown. These flowers find many and varied uses in decorations and are much used by San Francisco's picturesque street flower venders.

Boy Scouts Seek Leader Material

With many boys awaiting assignments to Boy Scout Troops in San Mateo county, Grant Marsh, chairman of the County Training Committee for Leadership has sent out today the call for volunteer leadership.

For the purpose of training new leaders in Scouting work, a Scout Leaders' Training Course for the County will be conducted by Edward A. Barrer, County Field Executive at the Guild Hall of St. Paul's Episcopal church located at Occidental avenue and the first session will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening of Thursday, November 6th and will continue for six consecutive Thursday evenings. Active participation will feature the course rather than passive listening to lectures. The course will provide the elementary knowledge of Scouting to the new volunteers and to the more experienced men it will bring a wealth of recreational activities and advanced knowledge in troop management.

The institute is conducted under the National Training plans. Enrollment is absoutely free of charge and applications for admission to the course are taken at the Scout Headquarters, 1204 Burlingame ave., Burlingame. The telephone call is Burlingame 2158.

In regard to the present Boy Scout situation in the county, Charles J. Eldridge said:

"As nearly all existing troops were strengthened to maximum membership by the recent drive, new ones must be formed to accomodate the attached 'rookies.' They cannot be formed until men are ready to take charge of them as each troop must have a scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster and at least three committeemen.

"Any male citizen of the United States who is over 18 years of age and if of good moral character will be gratefully enrolled by Field Executive Edward A. Barrer. While it is desirable that the scoutmaster should have as much preliminary training as possible before he assumes charge of a troop, many 'outdoor' men who understand boy nature are qualified for such leadership.

Each leader is responsible for the execution of the Scout program in his troop and for the morale of its members. He works under the general supervision and in co-operation with his troop committee and the local council and is authorized to select his assistants.

"Any man who voluntarily gives a portion of his time and energy to helping develop boy character through the medium of the Scout program, is an American citizen with highest ideals of citizenship, as he trains others to uphold the truest standards of democracy.

"The scoutmaster is amply rewarded by the satisfaction of knowing that, through his efforts, boys who otherwise might be roaming the streets of Redwood City are roaming the hills and woods and breathing the healthful air of the big outdoors."

The proposition of hiring a police officer and the formation of a police district will be voted by the citizens of Halfmoon Bay at a special election on November 10. The city is without police protection at present except for that provided by Constable Fred Simmons whose duties call him to all parts of the Fourth Township. It is claimed that the village requires the services of a police officer particularly at night when speeding motorists make the main street dangerous to pedestrians.

WHY NOT BE FAIR AND TELL THE TRUTH IN THE COUNTY SURVEYOR'S FIGHT?

EDITORIAL

There is one particular duty that every newspaper owes to its readers and to its community. It is to tell the truth and not to garble the facts or mislead the public.

In the contest between George A. Kneese, the incumbent, and James S. James for county surveyor, the Standard and the Times-Gazette have endeavored to present the facts in a truthful and clear manner. We regret that we cannot say the same thing about our local contemporary. For the past several weeks this particular paper in its frantic efforts to defeat Mr. Kneese at the election next Tuesday has been publishing articles reflecting on the costs of maintaining the county surveyor's office. Tuesday evening there appeared in this contemporary an editorial entitled, "What Is True Figure of Engineering Costs?" The editorial was an attempted answer to an editorial which appeared in the Standard of October 21st.

Quoting the first paragraph of our contemporary's editorial, it read: "Selected figures can be made to tell almost any kind of story. What appears, therefore, as a decidedly unfair attempt to mislead the voters was the statement published a few days ago that "the actual cost of the surveyor's office to the county is $7,700." We certainly agree with the first part of the statement, "Selected figures can be made to tell almost any kind of a story." That is just what our contemporary is doing in this present campaign. There was no attempt in our editorial of October 21 to mislead the voters, as our contemporary infers. We did not say, nor did we attempt to imply that the actual cost of the surveyor's office to the county is $7,700. We said that this amount covered the salaries of the county surveyor, a deputy and one stenographer. We also mentioned that there were incidental expenses for purchase and maintenance of equipment, such as automobiles, etc., supplies and field expenses. The actual figures for these items, as shown in the 1930-1931 budget, are $6935.

But what we endeavored to point out in our editorial of October 21, and for certain reasons this has been entirely overlooked by our contemporary, is the fact that of the $44,835 in the new budget for the county surveyor's office, $30,200 is set aside as a revolving fund to provide a pay roll only for carrying out WORK ORDERED BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS. The greater portion of this particular pay roll item, as we stated in our former article, is returned to the county general fund, the expense being borne by the various assessment districts. Since the first of June $9,095 has been turned into the general fund from only four improvement jobs, and approximately $12,000 more will be refunded before the close of the fiscal year.

Another item overlooked by our contemporary in its efforts to "give the people the facts" is the return of $1200 a year to the county by the surveyor from the sale of maps in his office.

Let us further call attention to the fact that the $30,200 in the county surveyor's budget is in reality a reserve fund available to the BOARD OF SUPERVISORS for use in such work as must be done through the channel of the county surveyor's office, and is at no time a fund that the surveyor can personally make use of WITHOUT A SPECIFIC ORDER FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS. As a matter of fact no portion of the county surveyor's budget, excepting his own salary, one deputy's salary and one stenographer's salary may be spent by him WITHOUT EXPRESS ORDERS BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Strict Records Kept

Records are kept in strict accordance with the State law. In addition thereto there is turned into and filed in the office an individual daily record, by the employe himself, of each hour engaged in county work. THERE CAN BE NO CONFUSING of County and private disbursements. At the end of each month the county surveyor files a detailed sworn statement with the county auditor, showing the name of the man employed, a record of the hours spent on each particular county job, and the amount of his pay therefor. This statement is checked and the legality thereof passed upon by the county auditor, who then issues warrant chargeable against the surveyor's budget.

THERE IS NO POSSIBLE WAY IN WHICH COUNTY FUNDS CAN BE USED FOR PRIVATE PURPOSES.

Then why all this camoflauging about the budget and attempt to conceal the facts? Why not tell the taxpayers the truth? Why not tell about all this money that is returned by the surveyor to the county treasurer and not make it appear that the entire amount of the budget goes toward the maintenance of the surveyor's office? Let us at least be fair in this campaign.

Private Work

Mr. Kneese's opponents seem to pay considerable attention to the private work done by him. The law taking into consideration the fact that the county has not yet reached the point where its population and resources would permit the employment of an engineer whose salary might be beyond the means of the taxpayers, allows the county surveyor to engage in private work, a practice which prevails in by far the largest number of counties in California and other states where a county government is established. Could any surveyor give the county better or as good service by maintaining only a minimum force at an office, depending upon "picking" up necessary help when work develops? Certainly not. It is a well proven fact that labor turnover is one of the most expensive items in the conduct of any business. The work developing in the county surveyor's office is at best sporadic and intermittent, and inasmuch as the statutes limit the help the surveyor may employ, but one deputy on an annual salary basis, it must follow that whenever necessary, new help must be employed and in turn be discharged when the work is completed. It is not always possible to engage experienced or the most competent men under such conditions. Under the present arrangement not only can private organization be drawn upon but it is also possible to select the men most suitable for the particular work involved.

No Extra Expense to County

Mr. Kneese's organization occupies no more space within the court house than that alloted the county sur-

Chinese Held On Murder Charge

Slayer of Aged Celestial To Be Tried Before Superior Court

Shoo was stabbed with a knife by Chew, and died shortly after at the Mills Memorial hospital as the result of the wounds. It is charged that Chew was attempting to rob some of his countrymen when the fight took place. As told to San Mateo police Shoo and two other aged Chinese were in the room when Chew entered wearing a black mask and carrying a knife. The three attacked him . All three were injured, but Shoo the most seriously. Chew was found later by the San Mateo police hiding under the bed in a Chinese laundry. He will be tried in the superior court on a charge of murder.

Business Gain Came in Wake Of Advertising

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28 (UP) — A report on current trade conditions by Marc N. Goodnow, journalism field representative of the University of California, just made public, reveals that advice of business statisticians to business houses to increase their advertising appropriations already had been reflected in retail lines in California.

"Perhaps the two most important things that face the independent retailer today," Goodnow's report said, "are competition from chain stores and the necessity of getting a message constantly before a larger body of people. Not only are the chains growing in number of outlets, but a number of them are increasing their advertising appropriations.

"One of the largest mail order chains (Sears-Roebuck & Co.) will spend this year $4,250,000 for advertising in 544 newspapers ,an increase of 25 per cent over 1929. This appropriation is about 1 per cent of gross sales. Other houses have maintained their customery appropriation of 1 per cent of gross sales for advertising purposes and are conducting aggressive newspaper advertising campaigns.

"Even in many instances where chain volumes have not equaled those of last year, the advertising appropriations have not been materially changed," Goodnow's report said. "In general, the independent merchant whose volume has decreased has neglected to maintain sufficient advertising space. Undoubtedly ,this policy of the independent has been responsible for a part of the increase in chain volumes.

"The fact that the national chain stores recognize the value of local newspaper advertising should mean much to the independent merchant. With the same medium of advertising at his command, he has a different message to publicize—one that is local and personal in nature. With merchandise that meets the quality test, together with all the service features which he may offer, the independent merchant is by no means limited in his advertising or his merchandise by any form of competition."

FORMER LOCAL GIRL TRIED TO TAKE LIFE

Scolded for interceding in a quarrel between her mother and her step-father, Edna Manley, 18, of 1704 LaSalle street, San Francisco, formerly of this city, shot and seriously injured herself Wednesday. The girl had recently been released from the state home at Sonoma. When she interfered in the family quarrel the mother, Mrs. Conrad Lindberg is said to have threatened to send her back to the institution. The girl went to her step-father's room and shot herself in the breast with his revolver.

The girl's father, Joseph Manley is a resident of this city.

Mrs. Yount was a native of Santa Clara, and 76 years of age. She was the wife of the late Benjamin Franklin Yount, a well-known resident of this county, and a grandson of George C. Yount, one of the first American settlers in this state, and on whose estate the town of Yountville now stands.

Mrs. Yount is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Torrey and Mrs. Anna Schmoll; and by four sons, William F., Dr. George B., Benjamin F., and Walter A. Yount. Her husband passed away in 1925.

Advertising Of Amendment Held Up by Auditor

Stack Holds Use of County Funds For Political Measure Unwise

San Mateo county cannot spend $300 for an advertising campaign for one of the amendments in the approaching election. This is the opinion of County Auditor Edward Stack, and in this he is sanctioned by an unofficial opinion by District Attorney Franklin Swart.

The matter was brought to light when Stack stated that he would not pass claims for advertising incurred by County Assessor D. P. Flynn in support of amendment 18 on the November ballot. The proposed amendment would make it necessary for automobile owners to pay a personal property tax on automobiles at the same time that they pay a state registration fee. The state would then pay the tax to the county. At present a large part of the motorists, it is stated, do not pay a tax on their cars.

At the instance of the assessor the county board of supervisors authorized Assessor Flynn to spend $300 from the county's advertising fund for the support of this amendment.

The amendment is being opposed by the automobile associations, and the auditor was told by an attorney of one of the associations that the expenditure of the money of the county for this type of advertising would be illegal. Stack asked an opinion from District Attorney Swart, and was told by him that the money could not be legally so spent. The district attorney said that his advice had not been asked by the board of supervisors at the time of making the appropriation.

Jay W. Stevens Opposing No. 2

Marshal Claims Proposal Intended Only For Big Cities

State Fire Marshal Jay W. Stevens, who is also secretary of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs and Executive Secretary of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, yesterday bitterly attacked Amendment Number Two, the so-called firemen's pension system, as being "unfair and inequitable."

Stevens' statement is strengthened by the fact that he has long been a leader in movements for improving the working condition and compensation for firemen throughout the United States and his reputation as an organizer of fire departments. In attacking the amendment he places particular stress upon the belief that the amendment, if adopted, "would not give relief, where relief is needed, namely among the smaller communities, which are not in a position to maintain large municipal pension funds for the volunteers. Stevens claims that these departments would receive nothing; that the money under the mandatory provisions of the amendment, would be divided among approximately twelve cities of the state with one city, maintaining a fund running into the millions, receiving approximately 84 per cent of the total.

"I am absoutely opposed to Proposition No. 2," said Stevens, "first, for the reason that the proposal is not equitable or fair and would not give relief where relief is needed, the money going to cities already having pension systems. Second, the plan is unsound and should never meet with public approval. I am convinced that if the people read the measure and see its incongruities and viciousness, it will be overwhelmingly defeated. Its adoption would be harmful to the fire service of the state. Never before in my thirty or more years in the fire service, have I been confronted with such an illogical proposal."

Burglar Given Sentence

The state board of prison directors has fixed the term of James E. Walker, arrested in San Francisco by Sheriff J. J. McGrath early last year, and later sentenced by Judge Buck to San Quentin, at 15 years. Walker was arrested in connection with the burglary of the office of the United States Laundry at Beresford, and later confessed to that and other robberies in this vicinity.

Be Sure and Vote

By D. E. O'KEEFE

All the voters of San Mateo county are urged to come to the polls next Tuesday to perform their civic duty. While there are but few contests to bring out the voter, there should be a full vote to demonstrate that the people of this section appreciate the privilege of taking part in the choosing of their officials and suggesting the laws to be enacted by the next legislature in their initiative and referendum vote Republicans are reminded that they owe a duty to their candidate for governor, James Rolph, Jr., by giving him a full vote, a vote of encouragement. Mr. Rolph has always been the consistent friend of San Mateo county. Let the voter show his appreciation by coming to the polls next Tuesday and casting a ballot for him and the entire republican ticket. A big vote will not only be a compliment to Mr. Rolph but will also cheer and encourage that great leader, Herbert Hoover, who is struggling at Washington with the greatest problems that have ever confronted a president of the United States. A big vote from his beloved California would cheer him in his work, and show him that his friends and neighbors at home are with him, heartily approving of his course and sympathizing with him in the many burdens that he is bearing. A large vote in California would be a direct message to the people of the east that California is with their favorite son, President Hoover, and his policies and are upholding him in his wonderful achievements, in his successful handling of the grave problems now confronting the country. Therefore a vote for Mr. Rolph on next Tuesday is also a vote af appreciation for President Hoover in his struggle to help the unemployed and to continue prosperity throughout the land. Mr. Rolph is entitled to a large vote of appreciation in San Mateo county, where his leisure moments are happily spent in his mountain home in the Alpine district. Let the vote in San Mateo county be overwhelming.

Vote Yes on No. 5

Number 5 on the November ballot authorizes the legislature to enact a retirement system for state employees, founded on an employee-contributory basis. It is merely an enabling act, carries no appropriation and does not increases taxes.

To free the state of the burden of maintaining employees on the payroll long after they have passed the age of efficiency, this plan provides for voluntary retirement at age 60, or compulsory retirement at 70. The employee is fully protected, however, as he contributes to a retirement fund, during his active years, to provide for the inactive years of later life.

This is not a case of philanthropy, but is just good practical business policy, as evidenced by the fact that more than 300 of the largest business concerns in the United States have adopted similar systems.

'Twa' Dogs

History has preserved for us the story of a friendship so close and unswerving that the story of Damon and Pythias has come to be synonymous with true frienship. San Francisco has a heritage of such a friendship, and one which should be preserved for posterity.

Old timers about San Francisco recall with wistful smiles tales of Bummer and Lazarus, two stray dogs. Always together, going through life side by side, these two strays, both just dog and of uncertain pedigree, were a familiar sight on the streets of San Francisco years ago. The story of these two dogs was known across the continent, and many were the tales which were told of this peculiar canine affection.

Bummer and Lazarus were friends to everyone, at every fire house they were welcomed; along the waterfront they were known by every longshoreman; on Market street and in the lobbies of the hotels they were a familiar sight. Where one was both were always found.

Today only a few old timers recall these two dogs. Even the memory of an incident connected with the life of San Francisco in the days of the horse car and gas street lamp may soon pass away. Bummer and Lazarus should be remembered by the people of a newer San Francisco in some sort of monument to the end that a friendship which once added color and interest to the most picturesque port in the world may not be forgotten.

Keep A Good Man In Office

There is no good reason why the voters of San Mateo county should not support George A. Kneese, candidate for county surveyor. He came into the office when it was of small proportions, organized it and kept pace with the growth and progress of the peninsula, always showing efficiency and capability of a high order. In all the years that Mr. Kneese has held the office not a breath of scandal has come to the management or conduct of the business of the position. Everyone having business with the office has been treated with courtesy, their work taken care of with promptness and with a degree of efficiency, seldom found in other counties. Mr. Kneese has a splendid staff of trained assistants, experienced in their respective departments. Why disrupt this fine organization for new men, untried and perhaps unexperienced in the work they are to engage in? It would take years for a new surveyor to bring the office up to its present efficiency with a new staff. Why make a change? Why not keep the pesent surveyor and his co-workers? Is there any need of a change? The taxpayers of San Mateo county know how the office has been conducted by Mr. Kneese and on next Tuesday they are going to vote for him, thereby keeping a good, faithful and capable man in office.

Sunday Closing

Among the legislative acts to be approved by the people on November 4 is one which means an important step in the building of more markets for all of California. It is un-opposed; it has the approval of all State interests—but it is in danger of failure because of mere lack of interest.

This measure, Number 9 on the ballot, is of vital interest to farmers, merchants and working men, because it provides facilities for the rapidly increasing shipping which carries California products to wider outlets and helps to dispose of surplus crops. Employment, building activity and general prosperity can be increased with these funds without expense to the state.

The measure is unique in that it can never cost one cent of taxes. It approves and legalizes the harbor improvement act, which provides for the issuance of bonds in the amount of $10,000,000 to provide funds for the improvement of the state-owned harbor on San Francisco Bay, the interest and redemption fund to be paid from the earnings of the harbor.

It can truthfully be said that it is only a formality under the provisions of the Constitution which requires a bond issue by this department of the state to be ratified and approved by a vote of the people of the state. The Harbor Improvement Act, which was adopted by a unanimous vote of both branches of the legislature, expressly provides that all costs of this issue, including interest and sinking funds, must be paid from the earnings of the harbor. Every citizen and every taxpayer may be confident that not one cent of tax money will ever be required as a result of the approval of this bond issue.

This state-owned harbor is, and always has been, self-supporting.

The improvements on the waterfront have a value of over $75,000,000, built up by its own revenues from an area of mud flats to one of the leading gateways of commerce in the world.

The harbor belongs to the entire state. More than half of the cargo passing through it is composed of agricultural and other products drawn from every part of California. Its development is vital to the rest of the state because everything that attracts increased commerce to California benefits all of California. Every new ship which docks in San Francisco Bay also docks in Los Angelas harbor, or possibly San Diego, Eureka, or some other California port to buy fuel, supplies, load or discharge merchandise.

Southern California, in particular, will support Number 9 for the welfare of all of California, just as all California supported the bond issue for the Olympic Games and the secondary highways for southern California.

The state's ocean commerce has nearly doubled in the past ten years. Many new steamers have been constructed and additional steamers are now under construction by the lines now calling at California ports, and other new lines are preparing to add vessels. The size of the ships has also greatly increased, and it is imperatively necessary that more facilities be provided to accommodate these ships.

For Number 9 not to pass would mean crippling the normal expansion of California's foreign trade.

Fifty-five of the fifty-eight counties of the state approved the last such harbor bond issue in 1914. It is imperative that the same action be taken again this year.

Vote for Number 9

There is an imperative necessity for additional harbor improvements to meet the growing demands of commerce in the harbor of San Francisco.

No. 9 on the November ballot will provide the necessary capital for our immediate requirements. The harbor revenues will repay the bonded indebtedness, eliminating any tax up on the public.

We in San Mateo county are vitally interested in the development of the San Francisco harbor for as it grows and expands, benefits will be extended to this district. It is to be hoped that every voter in the county will lend support to this worthy measure.

Chapter 27.

Now Where To?

But the little glow that had warmed Sally's heart when she had learned that Dr. Dale Randolph had not forgotten her, despite her disgrace, soon vanished under the stress of her preparations to leave the hospital.

Gay, frivolous Sally, who had never taken anything very seriously, felt very blue and dejected as she picked up her suitcase, cast a farewell glance about her little room, and started down the hall to the elevator. The period of training meant only wasted years, she reflected bitterly. She had nothing but a poor record to show for the time she had spent as a student nurse.

As she left the elevator, the dinner-gong was sounding, and she could hear the voices of her former classmates as they trooped into the dining-hall. A few more days they would be graduates, while she —

The elevator-boy eyed her sympathetically. "Let me carry your grip to the taxi," he urged. "Just take a minute."

Sally shook her head, smiling gratefully. "I must do some telephoning before I leave," she said. She stepped into a telephone-booth and called Lois's number, praying inwardly that would be able to to reach her friend without delay.

"Is Mrs. Walton in?" she asked breathlessly of the maid who answered her call. "Yes, Miss Todd calling."

She could have cried with relief when she heard Lois's voice say: "Why, Sally, where have you been? I tried to get you ——"

"Oh, Lois, Lois," Sally interrupted. "I'm in the most terrible mess. The most dreadful thing has happened." And she poured out her story, hardly stopping for breath. Lois was appalled, but her sympathy for her friend outweighed everything else.

"Your poor child," she cried. "Oh, Sally, I am so sorry. Never mind, dear. Get on a train and come right out. You're going to stay with me until you've gotten over this shock and have had a chance to make plans."

Somehow, Sally knew that Lois would say just those words. Perhaps she had always felt that she could count on help from Lois, if her reckless conduct should get her into trouble. Well, she was in plenty of trouble now and needed someone to help her. The scruples that she had felt about accepting aid from a woman whose husband disapproved of her vanished. There was only the sense of her own need, so she said quickly: "I'll come right away, Lois, and you're awfully good to want me." She hung up the receiver and hurried out to her taxi.

Lois rose from the telephone in the library and looked about her in dismay. She was beginning to wonder what her husband would say when Sally arrived. But, of course, she had to help her old friend. There wasn't anything else to do. Besides, she wanted to. James would understand when she explained that Sally was in mess and needed asylum for a little while.

But, as she left the library and mounted the stairs to her husband's study, Lois was not so sure that he would understand. He would be more than likely to look at her critically and say:

"I always knew, my dear, that your friend, Miss Todd, was a foolish, untrustworthy person. I should very much prefer that you do not have her as your guest."

As a matter of fact, he did say that very thing, and a great deal more, when Lois told him what had happened. He heard her through to the end, and then frowned and laid down his book. "I must ask you to try to understand, Lois," he said, "that your position as my wife makes it impossible for you to have among your friends a woman whose idea of life is one gay party after another, and who finally disgraces herself by proving that she is irresponsible when a patient's life is entrusted to her."

"But, James," pleaded Lois, "you make it all sound so perfectly horrible — as if Sally had deliberately —"

"She has deliberately overtaxed her strength in foolish pastimes, has she not?" asked Walton sternly. "And, as a result of that, she was unable to discharge the duties that were imposed upon her in an emergency. Therefore, a patient entrusted to her care almost lost her life. Do I overstate the case? You know perfectly well that I do not. Well, it is this woman whom you wish to keep as a friend, whom you wish to have as a guest in your home."

"But I must take care of her for a little while, James," protested Lois. "And where can I do it, except in our home?"

"I do not see that it is your business to take care of her at all," said Walton coldly. "As far as I can gather, she has always let you do things for her and has never thought of doing anything for you. I cannot allow you to be imposed upon any longer. When Miss Todd arrives, you may give her a sum of money, but I forbid you to let her stay here."

Disregarding the look of anger in his eyes, Lois shook her head. "I can't do that. Don't you understand that it would hurt her terribly, if I did. Oh, I am not trying to excuse her conduct. It might have had awful consequences, but now she has no one to turn to, if I refuse to help her. . . ."

She paused as Walton rose and left the room. "We will not discuss the matter further at this time," he said turning to her at the door, "but, if you do not make the situation clear to Miss Todd, I shall do so."

Lois went to her room and looked out of a window. What a terrible position she found herself in! She knew that her husband would do exactly as he had said he would. And then Sally would feel that she had lost her last friend.

Presently Lois heard a telephone ring and found herself hoping that Sally was calling to say that she had changed her plans and would not be out that night. A moment later her maid entered to say that Mr. Walton would like to speak with Mrs. Walton in her sitting-room.

Lois went into the pretty little room that she had furnished with such taste and care in the days when she had never dreamed of occupying it, and found her husband there, wearing an overcoat and carrying his hat and gloves.

"It is necessary for me to go to Canada for a few days," he told her. "I have just had a message and must leave at once. I hope you will remember what I have said and act accordingly." He kissed her good-by and strode out of the room. Lois followed him down-stairs and waved to him as his car rolled from under the porte cochere. It was a great relief to have him out of the way, with Sally due to appear at any moment. By the time he returned, she would have found some place for Sally to stay.

Lois returned to her sitting-room, and in a few moments there was the sound of a car on the drive and the murmur of voices below. She hastened to the lower hall and threw her arms about Sally, who had just entered the house carrying her shabby little suitcase and looking so miserable and dispirited that the tears rushed into Lois's eyes at the sight of her.

MENLO PARK

The city council met in regular session Tuesday, a full membership being present. An invitation from the P.-T. A. to attend a Hollowe'en dance at the auditorium of the grammar school this evening was accepted with thanks.

The mayor announced that the work of laying the sewer on and along Hoover street, preparatory to the improvements, would begin this week.

The city clerk was instructed to write the telephone company to remove an objectionable pole on Hoover street. This was done at the request of one of the property owners residing on the thoroughfare.

The work of auditing the claims was begun when Councilman Blake objected to a claim by the city police department for gasoline. Blake had his war paint on, and demanded to know about the big expenditure, and if the gasoline was used by private cars. He declared that the bills for the police department for June and July were greater than during the former administration. The Mayor halted Blake in his statement by saying that vouchers were on file for the expenditures and that he objected to the councilman's tirade. Blake said he represented the people and wanted the accounts kept straight. The mayor said that the council also represented the people, and that he had no monopoly of such representation. When the claim of J. B. Feliz, the poundmaster for $116 was reached, there was another clash, Blake claiming that dogs were running loose on Roble avenue, his home. The claim was objected to by the chairman, and the other councilmen on the ground that the fees charged were not in accordance to the ordinance. Feliz said he made the charge according to an agreement made between himself, Blake and former chief of police, Furman, whereby he was to receive half the license fee paid by dog owners. Mayor Weeden read the pound ordinance showing that the fee compensation was half of the license fee when the dog was impounded, all the impounding fee and one dollar, when the animal was buried. Blake said the laborer was worthy of his hire, and was in favor of paying the claim as presented. Crane declared he would stand by the ordinance. Blake said there was no enforcement of the law as canines were at large all over town. Feliz resented this, saying he was always on the job. Dale thought the matter ought to be referred to the city attorney and on his motion, seconded by Anderson, the troublesome matter went over to the next regular meeting of the council.

The council adjourned to meet on November 11.

Tax Collector A. McSweeney on Tuesday began his annual tour of the county for the collection of taxes. Pescadero was the first place visited and Mr. McSweeney says the amount of money received was more than that secured in former years, which goes to show that times are not as hard as they appear to be. He found the little town, basking in the sun by the sea, prosperous and the people happy and contented. Mr. McSweeney will go to Halfmoon Bay this morning.

George A. Kneese, the candidate for county surveyor, has many friends here who believe he should be retained in office and are working like beavers for him. Mr. Kneese was here during the week and he was warmly greeted. From all indications now it is more than possible that he will carry Menlo Park on next Tuesday by a big vote. It would be a blow at efficiency and honesty in office to defeat him. The voters are going to retain this able and capable man in office.

New Schedule To Cut Time For Peninsula Cities Is Claim

Changes in motorcoach service on the Peninsula between San Francisco and San Jose, designed to speed up running time of schedules, will become effective Saturday, November 1, according to an announcement made today by L. D. Jones, general manager of Pacific Greyhound Lines.

The running time of express schedules between San Francisco and San Jose will be reduced to one hour and 50 minutes, according to Jones, and the new time schedules will effect a reduction in running time to other Peninsula cities.

Starting at 5:30 a. m. motorcoaches will leave the Fifth and Mission streets terminal on the hour and half hour. Motorcoaches leaving on the hour will use the Bayshore highway and coaches leaving the terminal on the half hour will leave San Francisco via the Mission highway.

Blinding Speed Prediction of Rocket Expert

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28 (UP)— Breakfast in Tokio, lunch in Kansas City, dinner in Paris and to be back to bed in Tokio.

This prophecy, it is believed, qualifies hands down for the Jules Verne award of 1930.

It was uttered here recently in all seriousness by Herr Fritz von Opel, German rocket-aircraft expert, now sojourning with Frau von Opel at Waikiki Beach.

"I know it sounds ridiculous to talk of traveling 5000 or even 3000 miles an hour," explained Von Opel, "but in a few years that speed will be commonplace. Theoretically, my experimental planes will do that now, but they have not been developed on a practical basis."

Asked if he thought a trip in such a plane to the moon, Mars, or some other nearby planet would be feasible, Von Opel replied:

"I am not concerned with the possibilities of such a trip. My efforts are being directed toward improving commercial aviation for the good of mankind on earth. Certainly, if anyone flies to the moon, he won't have me for a passenger, even if he flies one of my own planes."

Von Opel gained worldwide mention several years ago with his first rocket plane. In spite of their embryonic stage of development, the scheme has been pronounced sound by many engineers.

HE BELONGS IN AFRICA

Johnny Hardenbrooke, 9-year-old Stanford, Mont., boy, goes in for hunting with a vengeance. Johnny devotes the greater part of his time out from school to making life miserable for coyotes, badgers and similar small game. The other day, however, he invaded a larger field with his trusty .22-caliber rifle. Result, one 200-pound brown bear. Johnny is posing above with two coyote pups, part of a litter he dug out of a cave.

Tablecloth Map Newest Creation in Paris Shops

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 29 (UP)—The tablecloth that guarantees no slack in the line of conversation is absolutely the newest thing in one of the Paris shops. It is called "Les Cartes," which interpreted means "The Maps."

In gay silk threads of varying colors your favorite country is outlined in embroidery on the smooth satiny surface of cream or white damask. The name of the ocean, or sea lapping against the shores of your terra firma is neatly done in fiat silk letters and to complete the picture, of course, all of your favorite cities are embroidered about the country!

For the American family just returned from a marvelous two or three months travel in Europe, visiting all the famous capitals, watering places, cures, ad infinitum, what could be more interesting than to give a party with the table decorations consisting of a lone tablecloth outlining the entire trip?

A large table would allow practically the entire map of Europe, leaving room for the service plates and silver to be placed in the oceans and seas. At first the guests would do a vast amount of "ohing" and "ahing" which would relieve that initial formality.

When the general admiration has subsided and interest manifested in the hostesses equally delectable entrees, viands, salads and deserts absorbs the passing moments and a lull in the conversations seems imminent what could be more life saving than to be able to say:

"Mrs. So-and-So, if you will move your salad plate just an inch to the left you will see where I danced with the Prince of Sima when he was in France. . . ."

Lawyers Argue Film Contracts In High Courts

Important Litigation For Movie Industry Starts This Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27, (UP)—A brilliant array of counsel headed by John W. Davis appeared before the Supreme Court today to argue one of the most important pieces of litigation the motion picture industry has faced in many years.

It is the attack of the government through anti-trust injunction proceedings on the standard form of exhibitors by the motion picture producers and distributors and the 32 film boards of trade representing them throughout the country.

Two Appeals

Two appeals are to be argued. One is taken by the government from the decision of the present Solicitor General Thomas D. Thatcher, rendered by him as a district court judge in New York City. This decree found there was no injurious restaint of trade shown on that part of the contract which provided that the exhibitor abide by the rule of credit committees of the various boards. Judge Thatcher also upheld the practice of the boards in forcing purchasers and lessees of picture houses to take over the uncompleted contracts of their predecessors.

The other appeal, taken by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., its members and the film boards of trade, is from another opinion of Judge Thatcher which found the contract was a violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Thatcher's Finding

He based this finding on the requirement of enforced arbitration of differences between the film organization and the exhibitors. The court found there was restraint of trade in that it excludes from the trade exhibitors who find the contract unacceptable.

The members of the producers and distributors association, of which Will H. Hays is president, distribute about 60 per cent of the movie film exhibited each year and the boards distribute about 98 per cent. Thus, the government argues they virtually control a total of between 22,000 and 25,000 motion picture houses.

SHOT OVER WATERMELON

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UP) — Ben Robinson, Jr., Negro, is serving a five-year prison sentence for shooting Ernest Taylor, Negro, whom Robinson claimed had cheated him out of five cents in a watermelon purchase.

WOODSIDE

Woodside has long been known for its loyalty to the horse. The Woodside Trail Club has been an active organization for many years and the Why Worry Farm of Mrs. William Roth is famous over the United States for its possession of some of the finest horses in the country. But interest in this friend of man has grown greatly in the last few months. Mrs. Alma Spreckles Rosecrans has bought the W. D. McCann place and is now building a very complete equipment of stables and training track for her string of horses. L. C. Hammond has leased a property adjoining his home place for the construction of an exercising track for his stock and Daniel C. Jackling is building a new $65,000 stable for the better housing of his thoroughbreds. Even in this age of sixteen cylinder motor cars, the horse is not forgotten nor neglected.

Cecil Miller and family moved this week to San Francisco.

The little gray squirrel with his waving plume of a tail is a friendly creature protected by the laws of the State and befriended by all lovers of the Woods. But he lacks the friendship of the Telephone Co. For the last week a crew of men have been searching out and mending the punctures made by these squirrels in the protective covering of the telephone cable. In many places the cable is carried through the tops of trees. Using these trees for ladders the squirrels mount to the telephone line and sharpen their teeth on the lead conduit covering the copper wires. These punctures cause little trouble in dry weather but let the rain come and the telephone service is "in a mess."

Ettore Avenali and family are planning to return to San Francisco for the winter, leaving here the tenth of November.

All Woodside is anticipating the entertainment to be given by the Parent-Teacher Association on Friday night. A play presenting an all-star cast will be followed by games for the children and dancing for the grown-ups. But it is the play that is causing unusual interest. Nowhere, save perhaps in New York or Hollywood, could such an array of dramatic talent be found in a single production. Included among the artists are Mrs. B. D. Ralston, Mrs. Leland John, Mrs. James Wilkie, Mrs Albert Meyer, Mrs. Wm. Langley, Mrs. P. D. Jarvis, Mrs. Hubeli, Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Pierce.

Billy Jackson tried to walk the top rail of a fence on his way home from school on Wednesday afternoon with the result that he is now carrying a broken arm in a sling.

S. S. F. MAN JAILED ON BRUGLARY CHARGE

Juan Alvarado was arrested in South San Francisco Wednesday on a charge of burglary. He is being held at the county jail.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (UP)—There are plenty of tricks used in attempts to break into the movies—most of them don't work—and Claire Du Brey used one to get work in "Sin Takes a Holiday."

It wasn't much of a job, at that, but she didn't ask for much.

Paul L. Stein was casting for "Sin Takes a Holiday" and happened to be glancing through a casting magazine. He found an advertisement inserted by Miss Du Brey. She said that despite the fact she had considerable experience in silent films and on the stage with Pauline Frederick, Robert Ames and others, she was willing to play "bits."

She explained in the advertisement that by "bits" she even meant dead bodies, off stage voices, or what have you. She added, frankly, that she wanted to break into the talkies.

The humor of the ad appealed to Stein and he engaged her to do a telephone conversation off stage with Constance Bennett, the star.

Horace Liveright, who attained success as a book publisher, has arrived in Hollywood to take up a new career.

It was announced recently that he had joined the staff of the Paramount studio, chiefly as an expert on story selection. Now he is here.

"Certainly the motion picture business is much like the book publishing business," Liveright responded quickly to a question. "Books, plays and motion pictures are selected for an audience, or should be, if they are to succeed. The more the audience is pleased the more successful is the book or play. The qualities shared by these art forms are not superficial but basic. The successful publisher must be a successful showman. By the same reasoning the successful showman must be shrewd in his selection of material. The story is the foundation for all."

"AIR-GUARD" NETWORK PLANNED BY GERMANY

BERLIN, (UP)—A great network of "air-guards" to protect the population against aero-chemical attack will soon be established in Germany as the result of recent tests in East Prussia.

The tests were intended to show the effectiveness of the telephonic alarm in reporting enemy aircraft to military and civil authorities. As the treaty of Versailles forbids Germany to maintain military aircraft, ordinary commercial planes were used.

In the tests, military and civil officials cooperated in warding off the "enemy" planes. General Von Mittelberger, inspector of the Reichwher's arms schools supervised the operations.

AFRICA LEARNS SECRETS OF AMERICAN DISTILLING

GENEVA, (UP)—African tribes may soon be able to give the cleverest American tips on how to prepare alcholic brew.

This information reached the League of Nations permament Mandates Commission that is charged with seeing that natives in mandated territories do not have access to spirituous beverages.

Despite their efforts the granting of concessions in Africa to American and other concerns has brought with it not only the taste for drink, but the necessary prosperity.

Finally, the African tribesman has learned how to use the still and with the introduction into Africa of sugar cane he can now manufacture his own private stock.

SIX HOURS OF HARD WORK

DEAL, Eng. (UP)—Sixty-six anglers fished for six hours and all they caught were two fish total weight three pounds one ounce.

Achievements vs. Political Promises

GEORGE A. KNEESE has served you as County Surveyor for 12 years. His achievements, the proof that he is capable, efficient and economical, are all about you in San Mateo County.

In investing your finances you would not change from a safe and profitable security to one that is decidedly uncertain.

Surely you would follow the policy of profit with safety in investing your tax money and want it used by an administrator of the county surveyor's office who has met every conceivable test.

Keep in mind that "a bird in hand is worth TWO in the bush," and—

WHAT! 11-MAN TEAM?

DAVIDSON N. C., Oct. 30 (UP)—The power of a football team is determined today in a large measure by its reserve power. However, back in 1910, when the Davidson College Wildcats won the state championship, reserves evidently were not the determining factor.

The 1910 team, which held its first reunion in 20 years on Homecoming Day, October 25, played an eight game schedule with a varsity of 15 players and carried only 11 players on the road.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30 (UP)—Allen Holman, captain and star quarterback of the 1929 Ohio State university football team, is playing with the Buckeye freshman team again. Holman, now a member of the freshman coaching staff, actually gets into scrimmage with the frosh teams, because of his ability to throw forward passes which baffle the varsity players.

Sequoia To Meet San Mateo Today

Local Men Working Hard To Overcome Handicap Of Injuries

Due to the fact that several first string linesmen will not play on account of injuries, the Sequoia varsity football team has been putting in extra hours of practice this week in an effort to overcome this handicap. With a few breaks Sequoia is conceded a chance to win today against San Mateo, but the locals will have to have plenty of pep to down the fighting Bearcats. Dick Stubbs, Al Cleland, Peter Lawler, and Frank Goldthwaite will not be on the field when the game begins and Charles Anthony, and Mal Malone formerly bench warmers, will be in the lineup.

Servant Sues For $20,000 Damages

Charging that the rear entrance of the Ryder home in Hillsborough was unlighted, and that it was not provided with a rail, Lena Storeheim this week filed suit against Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Ryder for $20,000 damages. The plaintiff, a former servant at the Ryder home, charges that when returning to the house on October 26, she fell from the stairs to the driveway and suffered injuries of a permanent nature. She alleges that the cause of her fall was the neglect of the owner of the house to have the rear entrance lighted and provided with a rail.

Dazella was knocked down by a taxi on the Rue de la Paix. The amputation of his finger resulted.

"SKULL' PRACTICE CUTS FOOLISH QUERIES AT GAMES

BOISE, Ida. (UP)—Such inane feminine queries as "Why did he kick the ball away?" "What are those brutes chasing that one man with the ball for?" are a thing of the past on the Boise high school gridiron this fall.

Instead, the girls follow each game intelligently and have learned to distinguish between a first down and a touchdown.

The reason? Because at the outset of the fall term, the entire student body was given an intensive "skull" practice session.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 28 (UP)—California's state officials are unanimous in endorsing proposition No. 3 on the ballot, relating to compensation of state executive officers.

Briefly ,the measure would take form the constitution the power of fixing salaries of the secretary of state, controller, treasurer, attorney general and superintendent of schools, and give it back to the legislature.

In other words ,every time a minor change in the salary schedules comes up it wouldn't be neccesary to go through the bunglesome process of adopting a constitutional amendment and referring it to the people for ratification.

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson has flatly denied the rumor that he plans to resign his position in the senate and devote his entire time to the practice of law in San Francisco. "It's pure nonsence," he said. "There's nothing to it and I have no thought of it at any time."

This scotches the report which sprang from the recent affiliation of Senator Johnson with the law firm of Theodore Roche and Matt I. Sullivan in San Francisco, that Johnson planned to resign and that Congressman Phil D. Swing would be appointed his successor.

Three members of the state legislature in Los Angeles have their eyes on three of the new congressional seats to be created by the 1931 legislature.

They are Senator Joseph Pedrotti, George W. Rochester and Assemblyman William Byrne. Prior to his candidacy for lieutenant governor, Senator F. F. Merriam of Long Beach was slated for the congressional district that would embrace Long Beach.

Now is it whispered that Friend W. Richardson, former governor, may be induced to run for a seat in congress. That is, provided his slated appointment as state superintendent of banks, succeeding Will Wood, doesn't materialize.

And, speaking of possible appointments by James Rolph, Jr., when he becomes governor, Attorney Hugh McKevitt of San Francisco, intimate advisor of Rolph, is widely mentioned as state director of finance, to succeed Lyman M. King, former newspaper publisher of Redlands, now interested in building and loan activities.

Senator Herbert W. Slater of Santa Rosa has presented an interesting analysis of California's primary election. The total vote for Rolph, Young and Fitts in the 48 counties, including Los Angeles, northern counties was 559,553. In the 10 southern counties, including Los Angeles, the total vote for the three gubernatorial candidates was 467,246.

"Apparently the men and women of the north take their politics more seriously than those of the south," said Senator Slater. "This is evidenced by a vote nearly 100,000 in excess of the southern total, where the population and registration are both greater."

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (UP)—The transition from summer to winter clothes, always something of a spectacle, is this season more marked and more sensational than usual. It requires no great strength of memory to recall the gay costumes of a month or more ago—costumes brilliant in color and pattern. Prints were everywhere. Now everywhere one goes there is a preponderance of black. One is constantly meeting women so bedecked in black that they appear to be in mourning for something more than their sins! That some of the close fitting black hats have a white bandeau only contributes to general impression that women are going in for merry-widow rules. Shop windows ,and interiors are dressed in accord all of which has not seemed in tune with the brilliance om autumnal folliage or the blue of autumnal skies. While there are some colors, notably brown, New York at least has adopted black for the town uniform.

Gone, too are the wide brimmed hats of summer. In their place have come tiny, shallow hats exposing the brow and looking in many cases like baby bonnets gone black. Hats either drape closely to the head or jut out in one long or several short points, tricorne and bicornes effects being numerious. Every one is wearing a black hat—excepting the minority element wearing colored costumes. These are adhering to ensemble principals by wearing matching hats.

Every one is wearing earrings—or trying to—the problem of keeping them anchored securely being a difficult one. Long, or pendant earrings are an aid to making the somewhat trying hats now in vogue less trying to most.

Treasury Men Start Hardest Job of Year

Estimate of Government's Income for Next Year Begun

By CECIL OWEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (UP) — United States Treasury officials are now engrossed in one of the most difficult tasks they have ever faced.

Estimating the government's probable revenues during the next fiscal year is an annual duty at about this time, but this year the Treasury's job is more complicated than ever before.

Criticism has been directed at the Treasury in the past for alleged inaccuracy of some of its estimates.

A high official said today if the Treasury comes within $50,000,000 of guessing the surplus this time it will be "hitting the bull's eye within a bull's eye."

On the Treasury's guess of what revenues will be in 1931, depends whether the Administration will ask Congress to continue the temporary one per cent tax reduction authorized last year on income taxes paid in 1930. This cue aggregated $180,000,000 divided between corporations and individuals.

The Treasury's "$180,000,000 guess" will be transmitted to Congress in Secretary Mellon's annual report on the first Monday in December.

For the last fiscal year the Treasury originally estimated a surplus of $225,000,000 which was reduced to $145,000,000 by the tax reduction. The actual surplus at close of the year was $184,000,000, or $39,000,000 more than the Treasury's estimate.

Taking into consideration the fact that total government revenues are close to $4,000,000,000 annually, Treasury experts said they believed a guess that was within $39,000,000 of the correct figure was remarkably accurate. Their estimate of revenues was only $11,000,000 off as compared with the actual receipts.

The business depression this year will undoubtedly cause a reduction in income tax payments to the government. The problem before the Treasury now is: Will this reduction be so low as to preclude continuing the temporary tax cut?

In other words, it is the Treasury's job to estimate how seriously business profits have been hit by the depression and to guess the probable trend during the remainder of 1930 and in 1931.

WHY NOT BE FAIR AND TELL THE TRUTH IN THE COUNTY SURVEYOR'S FIGHT?

veyor and his staff. Most of the equipment such as calculating machines, drawing utensils, furniture and files are his private property paid for by himself. All of this private property is being used upon county work without cost to the taxpayer, and the data contained within his private files furnish most of the information required by the public from day to day.

Mr. Kneese's opponent, of course, does not promise that he will not engage in private practice. He merely states that he will conduct his private practice outside of the court house, which will naturally mean a seggregation as far as space is concerned, otherwise being sufficiently interlocked as to constitute the same condition that he now decries. The only advantage of such a seggregation of work would be to Mr. James' benefit. It would enable him to have a private office from which he could exclude the public. Mr. Kneese's office being situated in a public building is open at all times to such of the public who may wish to visit it.

In view of the above facts, it can be readily seen by all fair-minded persons that there is no ground for the unfair attacks being made upon Mr. Kneese or the criticism being directed at his office. The engineering affairs of San Mateo county are being conducted with the same efficiency and economy that applies to the engineering department of all modern organizations. The electors of the county recognize this and will return Mr. Kneese to office next Tuesday with a big majority.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO REACHED BY NUMBER

New and faster telephone service from Redwood City to South San Francisco, Lomita Park and San Bruno will become available on Saturday, November 1. This will be the result of the establishment of "Number Service" between these points by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

L. C. Brown, manager for the company, in explaining this new service said: " 'Number service' will enable the patrons of this telephone company to place a telephone call from the Redwood City Exchange to the South San Francisco Exchange with the ease of a local call. When you wish to call the South San Francisco Exchange, which includes South San Francisco ,Lomita Park and San Bruno, it will only be neccessary to give the desired number to your local operator and wait on the line as on a local call.

Please remember calls to 'Number Service' points must be placed by telephone number. Always look in the directory first. If the number of the called party's telephone is not listed, call the information operator then give the number to your local operator."

Chinese Referees Vote To Ban U. S. Football Terms

SHANGHAI, (UP)—Use of English language terms in Chinese-played football and basketball is "disgraceful and illogical," Chiang Hsiang-ching told a meeting of the Chinese Referees' Association here.

The speaker said that it was highly unpatriotic for Chinese referees to use foreign words in refereeing games in which Chinese players participated. Only the Chinese language should be used, he declared.

Viewing the matter similarly, the Referees' Association voted against the use of such foreign terms and appointed a committee including Chiang to do something about it.

LONDON, (UP)—Miss Edith Patterson, employed on the "Flying Scotsman" train, has traveled 300,000 miles by rail.

This new service, which is to be established by the telephone company, is the result of the increase of inter-city calls between Redwood City and South San Francisco, which, according to Brown, serves as an indication of growing business and social relations between these communities.
